

Your surgeon is a

Fellow of the American College of Surgeons

A Mark of Excellence

The FACS® designation after your surgeon's name means you're in good hands.

FACS® Fellow of the American College of Surgeons

It means your surgeon is a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons (ACS), the largest and most prestigious surgical organization in the world.

The ACS Sets the Standard

For more than 100 years, the ACS has been a global leader in advancing surgical excellence—from education and research to patient access, hospital quality standardization, and clinical care.

FACS Status Must Be Earned

Becoming an ACS Fellow requires a rigorous process to ensure that a surgeon meets and upholds the highest standards of surgical care and ethics.

It represents high achievement, exceptional skill, and commitment to the best quality of care.

Learn more at facs.org/for-patients

ACS / AMERICAN COLLEGE
OF SURGEONS